Arlington may be host to 1947 4-H club fair

Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce will probably be host next August to North Cook County's 1947 4-H Club Fair. It will be the first time that the boys and girls of Cook County who are members of 4-H Clubs will conduct their two-day show and exposition in the northern part of Cook County.

C. A. Hughes, Cook County Farm Adviser, recently offered to the Chamber of Commerce the opportunity to sponsor the event, which in other counties has become an annual occurrence of large magnitude.

The Arlington business men have appointed a committee, comprising Arthur Franzen, Herman Hinz, Max Warson and Geo. Schneberger to meet the Farm Bureau committee to work out the details. The members of the latter committee are Henry Moehling, Louis Pohlman, John Friese, Frank Fender and Henry Eichholz.

In the past the 4-H Club members of northern Cook county had to travel nearly 50 miles to attend the annual event. Hereafter they will go only to Arlington Heights.

The fair is partially supported by the state, but it will be necessary for the host organization to provide a part of the premium money. Concessions are expected to provide a considerable sum.

Cattle and livestock will be on display and will be judged by experts. Agricultural students of local high schools will be particularly interested.

A number of the schools in the Northwest conference have agricultural courses and its members have been competing in the Elgin, DeKalb and other fairs. There is a possibility that it may be deemed feasible to enlarge the 4-H fair plans to include entries by the FFA members, who are boys and girls taking the agricultural courses.

Finds way to break building shortage

When Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Curry, Northwest highway, Palatine, purchased a lot in Palanico Park, they intended to build a home thereon. When they ran into difficulties in getting materials they compromised on a gas station. A cement man erected the blocks, but the Currys did all the carpentry work. A contract was signed for Mobile gas and after several months hard work, the place opened for business. They realized that they would have to sell something besides gas to get a big enough return so they decided to sell service and operate the station 20 hours a day. Mr. and Mrs. Curry take turns sleeping and the station bears the sign "open from 6 a.m. to 2 p.m."

Such ambition to succeed is bringing them business and they are looking forward to the time when they can still build that home and enjoy life the same as the average person.

The Elliotts have a glorious trip

Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Elliott, Arlington Hts., returned Saturday from a two weeks vacation and visit with relatives and friends through Iowa, Nebraska, Wyoming, Colorado, Kansas, Missouri and southern Illinois.

Their friends almost wish that they had made the trip with them as they listen to—

"A wonderful sight were the mountains, the scenery was gorgeous, the trees having attained all the vivid hues of the rainbow."

The trip across the Continental divide over the great Monarch pass was especially interesting. Temperature range was from 20 degrees at night to 85 degrees in the daytime.

"A snow storm greeted them at Cheyenne, Wyoming. Food was plentiful and the melon crop was very fine. 4,000 miles and no car trouble whatever, same air in the tires, thus a very enjoyable trip."

They've got no sugar at sewage plant, either

Elton Belzer, engineer at the Arlington Heights sewage disposal plant, thought telephone service was at a low ebb last week when calls made to the F. E. Davis Co. for sugar were referred to him Thursday and Friday. The Davis company was selling sugar in 1916, and calls evidently placed then, were just now arriving at Arlington Heights 20, now the village disposal plant.

But after the fifteenth call, Elton caught on that it was just another example of the power of the Way Back When column in Paddock Publications. From then on women callers were politely but firmly told they were too late—just 30 years too late.

2nd fireman dies from collision of fire truck and train

Arlington, Palatine firemen give blood in effort to save life

One of the largest funeral services ever held in the Palatine Methodist church occurred Tuesday afternoon when final honor was paid by the community to Wesley Comfort, Jr., who had given his life October 5 in line of duty. This young man had passed through the war in Europe unscathed to meet his death when going to a fire in his home town.

Every effort known to medical science was tried to save the young man's life. When a call for blood donors was received, not only did every member of the Palatine department respond, but members of Arlington Hts. fire department as well. Two of the latter and fourteen Palatine firemen gave their blood the last two days of his life.

Wesley was fatally injured when the fire truck in which he was riding, accompanied by Leonard Nebel, as driver, crashed into the side of a Northwestern engine. Due to seriousness of injuries, he was taken to the Sherman hospital, Elgin, where he passed away about the hour that funeral services were being held for his brother fireman.

His friends and those who had watched his progress, expected great things of Wesley. As a boy he spent every spare hour tinkering with tools in the basement of his home. When 17 years old he drew the plans and built the home occupied by his parents. After his graduation from the Palatine high school he entered Illinois Institute of Technology where he studied two years until called for army service in 1941.

His natural modesty was dimmed his ardor to become a builder. Immediately after his return to civilian life he made plans to build houses for sale. As he said, "I want to build honest homes." His first venture is partially completed at Helen Road and Rose st.

Army life had not dimmed his ardor to become a builder. Immediately after his return to civilian life he made plans to build houses for sale. As he said, "I want to build honest homes." His first venture is partially completed at Helen Road and Rose st.

Wesley Comfort, Jr., was born July 15, 1922, in Palatine. His mother died in 1941. He married Miss Peggy Schleih November 7, 1944, and until he could find a suitable home in Palatine, was living in Chicago.

Aside from his father, he leaves a stepmother and a sister, Jeanne.

Capt. Schneberger now chief check pilot for Eastern Air Lines

Capt. Schneberger, familiarly called "Bud" by home town folks, has been appointed chief check pilot for Eastern Air Lines at Chicago. Bud has done a lot of flying since his high school days when he told his dad, George Schneberger, that he preferred flying to entering the coal and building material business in Arlington Heights.

An account of his progress as a flyer would make a story in itself, and Bud does not like publicity. Suffice to say, he will have charge of the flying of all green pilots hired in this area by Eastern Air Lines, as well as the checking of senior pilots who are seeking their captaincy. Mr. and Mrs. Schneberger and their two children reside in Cumberland.

Christmas ??

The calendar says that Christmas is coming in about two months. Arlington Hts. business men will be asked "how about decorations this year?" Last year the business men were either doing so much business they did not have time to decorate or they had so little stock that they said, "what's the use?"

The Chamber of Commerce has decided that a survey be made as to the decorations in the business district for the 1946 Christmas. Perhaps we will have them and perhaps we will not.

Construction starts on addition to high school

Axel Johnson, contractor for the addition to the Arlington Hts. high school began excavating Tuesday. The contract calls for one story, 240 ft. addition to house the vocational and science depts. of the school. Mr. Johnson is also building the addition to the South side school where the foundation and footings are completed and on which workmen are laying brick for the first floor.

Due to building conditions no guess is being made as to completion date, but Mr. Johnson has established a reputation on other school work in Arlington and pushes his jobs.

Both additions are expected to be ready for occupancy by next summer.

M. F. Egeldorf, former principal at Arlington, broadcasts over WKAR

M. F. Egeldorf, former principal of Arlington Heights township high school and now superintendent of schools at East Lansing, Michigan, was heard over the air Wednesday morning, October 2, from 9:30-10:00 over radio station WKAR.

The program consisted of a panel discussion on "Pre-School Conferences" led by Dr. Clyde Campbell, Professor of Education and Director of Placement Bureau at Michigan State College, East Lansing, Mich. Mr. Openlander who is also a superintendent and Mr. Egeldorf participated in the discussion.

A group of Arlington Heights boys, some of prominent families, could not resist the temptation to throw stones at homes in Scarsdale the other day. The police gathered them in and after a heavy lecture sent them home to tell their parents what they had been doing. Corporal punishment was up to the dads because it was the boys' first offense.

The village clerk was directed to write a letter to the C. & N. W. asking them to instruct trainmen to keep the crossing open.

Arlington buys a street sweeper

There is a saying that a new broom sweeps clean, thus Arlington streets will soon rival those of Holland for cleanliness, says T. F. Stutman, chairman of the street department. A contract with the C. C. Fuller Co., Chicago, was completed Monday evening for an Austin-Western patrol sweeper at a cost of $4,725.47. Included in the purchase is a leaf sweeper which is expected to keep the catch basins free from such debris.

"It is not so much the cost of the sweeper as it is that we can not afford to go without one," says Alderman Stutman. "At present there is a lot of material that is flushed into the drainage system. The sweeper will save that wear and tear on the sewers and the treatment plant."

There are over 40 miles of streets within the village and each one of those miles will not get a weekly house cleaning, but they will get it oftener than is now given and at a whole lot less expense.

It's the overhead

It was the overhead for engineering services that J. L. Walther, engineer for Arlington Ridge, objected to in a plea to Court county squads of the Sheriff's highway police will soon be operating police calls on new FM equipment, if the County Board approves a $30,000 appropriation requested by Sheriff Michael F. Mulcahy.

The request was revealed in a letter directed to the County Board, addressed to President Clayton F. Smith.

"With an FM system to replace our worn out AM system, our police radio network will surpass those of the largest cities in America," declared Mulcahy.

The old AM system was installed in 1939, and furnished radio dispatching service to three villages who had squad cars equipped with radios.

The year's probation means that if any of the defendants violates any law during the coming year, he will be immediately arrested and the above fine will be reimposed.

The boys are also not to leave the state without the consent of the trial judge and each must report once a month to the judge. They will be under bond for the duration of the probation.

For a play-by-play description of the trial read "Tales of the Street."

Object to use of Arlington as a R.R. switchyard

Alderman Theo. Stutman told the board members Monday evening that Vail street crossing was closed to traffic the greater part of the afternoon of October 3. He blamed unnecessary switching of engine No. 919.

"Under existing ordinances no crossing can be closed to traffic longer than five minutes," Mr. Stutman stated.

The village clerk was directed to write a letter to the C. & N. W. asking them to instruct trainmen to keep the crossing open.

The change-over will require new antenna to be installed upon the 200 feet high towers of the three central stations. Present control cabinets will not have to be replaced, Mulcahy revealed.

Mulcahy explained that under frequency modulation (FM), the interference of static is suppressed in the presence of a voice or signal. Under AM the voice or signal is suppressed to static.

Equipment for such a change-over is readily available, said Mulcahy. The equipment now in use has served on a 24 hour basis for seven years, and though everything possible was done to keep the equipment in repair, breakdowns are becoming more and more numerous.

The change-over will require new antenna to be installed upon the 200 feet high towers of the three central stations. Present control cabinets will not have to be replaced, Mulcahy revealed.

The traveler also brought back a warning to northern people who are making plans to travel southward this winter. That country is expecting a great exodus of northerners to the southland as soon as cold weather arrives.

Elroy Nolting is a new employee of the village. Health officer reported one case of tuberculosis which must be placarded unless the patient is sent to a hospital.

Arlington Park people are asking for additional lights. The committee will review the street lighting requirements and make a recommendation at the next meeting of the board.

The village is holding the bag for $391.58 covering repairs to traffic light standard damaged last February. The Petroleum Transport, Inc., will be asked to pay the bill, if the involved truck firm does not come across.

Bills and payroll passed for payment totaled $4,627.44.

Eagle Plume in Indian attire charms clubwomen

Charles Eagle Plume, a Blackfeet Indian, presented a humorous, yet most impressive and inspiring program on Indian life at the first meeting of the Arlington Heights Womans Club last week, that tended to leave his audience with much "food for thought". He entered the auditorium in full Indian attire, complete with the headdress of the Blackfeet Indian, and captured the immediate attention of every woman present.

Squaws head the family

"Blackfeet", he said, was bestowed upon his tribe at the time they signed a treaty with the government. It so happened that the chief that was sent to represent the Algonquin Indians, wore black soled moccasins, and his signature on the papers was that of a black foot. Uncle Sam called them Blackfeet Indians and the name has stuck ever since.

Archaeologists misled by child's "inscription"

The women, or squaws, do all the electing of chiefs. They own all the worldly goods in their family, except their husband's horses and his own personal paraphernalia. Unlike the white people the Indian's background is traced through the maternal side, and the maternal grandmothers are held in the highest esteem.

He cited the basic similarity of all races in their early history. For example the savage and primitive instincts of the Indians, or red race, can be traced in the white, yellow, and black races as well. Their struggle for existence and culture was just as sincere as any other race. Mr. Eagle Plume pointed out that the white race hadn't actually contributed any one factor to improve civilization, but that they were the first to borrow from all existing factors, thus earmarking a great trend in the betterment of civilization.

Archaeologists misled

A rather humorous sidelight was brought in when he told of his school days. The young Indian would ride to school on a horse, picking up many cousins on the way, until the poor horse was fairly dripping Indians. Not having sidewalks on which to express their "artistic talents", they would stand atop the horse and write or draw inscriptions in the soft rock walls that lined the trail to school. Several years later a group of archaeologists came upon these inscriptions and as a result a whole chapter in a book about Indian culture has been devoted to the existence of certain savages in that section of the country, thousands of years ago.

Mr. Eagle Plume gave several interpretative Indian dances, singing his own accompaniment. The music sounded strange and he said this was due to the fact that the Indian scale of music has many more notes than ours. We could add another key between each key on our piano and it would probably give us an idea of how many added notes they use. Our music sounds just as queer to the Indian, he went on, especially songs like "Marzy Dotes", etc.

In conclusion he emphasized the fact that he did not spend three years in the South Pacific as an army scout just to come back and lecture on Indian life alone. Peace, he stressed, is the aim of every civilized human being and could only be obtained through racial tolerance, sympathy and understanding. "When these three things are conquered, peace will truly fill the world."

More than 200 women were present.

Geraldine Coy, James Peskusky are married

Taking the solemn vows of marriage last Saturday were Miss Geraldine Coy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Coy of Arlington Heights, and Mr. James Peskusky, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Peskusky of Chicago. The ceremony was held at 9:30 a.m. in the St. James Catholic church, Arlington Heights, Father George Stier officiating.

Mr. Edward Coy gave his daughter in marriage. She was attired in a gown of ivory satin, which had a bodice styled with sweetheart neckline and traditional bridal sleeves, and a full skirt ending in a long train. A tiara of orange blossoms held the fingertip veil in place. Miss Coy carried a white prayer book that was adorned with gardenias and satin ribbon streamers.

Betty Coy, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. Mrs. Virginia Schinkowsky, another sister, and Miss Lillian Peskusky, sister of the groom, were bridesmaids. The attendants were all dressed in white taffeta, styled with fitted bodices and full skirts. They all wore long fuchsia gloves and carried colonial bouquets of fuchsia asters, with a matching headpiece in their hair.

Gunner Elstrom served the bridegroom as best man and William Schinkowsky and John Wengerski acted as ushers. They all wore tuxedos and had boutonnieres of white carnations.

The children of St. James sang the mass and three solos were sung by two lifelong friends of the Coy family. Joseph Cuervo sang "Ave Maria" and "Panes Angelicus". Miss Elvira Cuervo sang "On This Day Oh Beautiful Mother" while the bride offered a bouquet of flowers to the Blessed Virgin.

A dinner was held in the afternoon for the bridal party and immediate members of the family at the bride's parent's home. In the evening a reception for 100 guests was held in the Constellation Annex hall in Chicago.

Marjorie Mueller and Edwin Prafke take vows

Miss Marjorie Mueller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Mueller of Arlington Heights, became the bride of Edwin Prafke, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Prafke of Des Plaines, in a candlelight service at the Des Plaines Emmanuel Lutheran church last Saturday at 7 p.m. The nuptial knot was tied by Reverend H. C. Fricke. Preceding the ceremony the church organist played the wedding march and the church choir sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a gown of white slipper satin. It was fashioned with a fitted bodice, having a high neckline, seed pearls trimming the shoulders, and large puffed sleeves tapering off at the wrists. The full skirt ended in a long train. She wore a full length veil that was held in place by a tiara of orange blossoms. Miss Mueller carried a white bible that was topped with glamellias from which fell white streamers knotted with stephanotis. She wore a gold lapel watch which was a gift of the groom and had belonged to his mother.

Bernice Vehrs, Erwin Lemke are married

Miss Bernice Vehrs, daughter of Mrs. Gerhard Vehrs of Chicago, formerly of Arlington Hts., became the bride of Erwin Lemke, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lemke of Wheeling on September 28. The double ring ceremony started at 3:30 o'clock in the St. Johns Ev. Lutheran church of Elk Grove, with Rev. F. L. Gehrs officiating.

The bride was attired in a gown of white satin with fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline, long sleeves and full skirt with train. Her long veil was held in place with a tiara of orange blossoms which her grandmother wore 49 years ago. Miss Vehrs carried a bouquet of white pom poms centered with an orchid. She was given in marriage by her brother, Herbert Vehrs.

Her matron of honor, Mrs. Loretta Lemke, was dressed in a gown of aqua brocaded satin with fitted bodice, three-quarter length sleeves, sweetheart neckline, full skirt and carried a bouquet of yellow daisy type mums, with a matching tiara in her hair. The bridesmaids, Mrs. Laura Lemke, Miss Patricia Bosworth and Miss Shirley Mitchell, were dressed identical with the matron of honor, but in a contrasting shade of yellow. They carried bronze colored mums. Valerie, sister of the bride, served as junior bridesmaid. Her dress was in aqua embroidered crepe, and her bouquet and tiara were of yellow mums. The bridesmaids all wore rhinestone bracelets gifts from the bride. The little flower girl, Mary Lou Wolter, cousin of the bride, was adorable in a dress fashioned identical to that of the junior bridesmaid. A basket of bronze mums provided a beautiful contrast to her yellow gown. David Lemke, nephew of the groom, acted as ring bearer.

Best man for the groom was his brother, Martin Lemke. Acting as ushers were Edwin Lemke, another brother and John Hammann, a cousin of the bride.

The bride's mother was dressed in navy blue and the groom's mother in black. Both had corsages of white pom poms. The grandmother of the bride was dressed in brown and wore a corsage of yellow pom poms.

Two solos "Oh Perfect Love" and the "Lord's Prayer" were sung by Ruth Studtmann of Arlington Heights, accompanied by Paul Meeske at the organ.

Immediately following the ceremony a bridal supper was served at the home of the bride for the immediate family. This was followed by a reception of 350 guests at the Wheeling Community hall. Music for dancing was furnished by Art Ahrens' orchestra. A delicious midnight lunch was served to all the guests.

The Wisconsin Dells was the site of the newlyweds' honeymoon and they are now making their home with the groom's parents in Wheeling.

Betty Nixon becomes the bride of Herbert Trow

Miss Betty Nixon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nixon of North Austin, became the bride of Herbert O. Trow, Palatine, Saturday evening at 6:00 o'clock in the Austin Methodist church.

The bridal procession was led by the matron of honor, Mrs. Bernice Nixon, sister-in-law of the bride, who was attired in dusty pink taffeta and carried a colonial bouquet of delicate blue bays by mums. Next followed the two bridesmaids, Mary and Lois Nixon, cousins of the bride, dressed identically in pastel blue taffeta, each carrying a colonial bouquet of yellow mums.

The bride wore the traditional white satin gown and her long veil was fastened with a dutch cap of pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses with a corsage of orchids in the middle.

William Nixon, brother of the bride, was best man and the ushers were Les Olson and August Dombrosky.

The mother of the bride wore aqua with black accessories, while the groom's mother was dressed in gray with black accessories. Each wore a corsage of pink baby roses.

Following the wedding there was a reception held for 300 guests at the Parkside Hall in Austin. The bride and groom spent the week end at the Morrison Hotel and left early Monday for a trip through the Southern states.

The groom is the son of Mrs. Elaine Dombrosky of Palatine.

Steel shortage delays caskets and return to U.S. of world war dead

Information on the progress of the return of World War II dead was given last week by Maj. Gen. T. B. Larkin, quartermaster general of the U. S. Army, in speech before the annual encampment of the American Legion.

"When Congress passed legislation late last spring providing for return and final burial of our World War II dead, the responsibility for carrying out this program was given by the Secretary of War to the Quartermaster Corps.

"Certain underlying principles guided our thinking as we started to accomplish this solemn duty. We were determined to carry it out in keeping with the highest traditions of democracy."

"First, the decision as to the ultimate final resting place of a deceased soldier, sailor, marine, or coast guardman was left to the next of kin. That right is theirs and theirs alone. Second, we were determined that there would be no distinctions made as to rank, race, creed or color. These principles guided us at the start and they will continue to be the keystone of the program.

"Some 300,000 of our fighting men who died in almost every part of the globe are involved. Our American Graves Registration activities, therefore, have had to be undertaken on a global scale. Our work has been going on across the European battlefields of World War II and on countless islands of the Pacific which were our stepping stones to ultimate victory. We are still searching the vastness of a land like China and the jungle depths of a country like Burma to locate remains of our service people.

"As a result of these operations, we have identified a total of 248,315 remains. In addition, we have located 17,094 remains which are unidentified. This course of action does not include 37,300 lost at sea or otherwise vanished.

"A total of 91.3 per cent of the approximately 290,700 remains in all theaters possibly affected by the program have been located.

"Most of these remains have now been put to rest in temporary United States Military cemeteries overseas. These are under U. S. military supervision; they receive constant landscaping and beautification.

"In regard to the unidentified, we have pursued a vigorous policy of employing the latest available methods of identifying remains. Every possible aid which science could lend to this work has been put to good use. As a result, we are able to identify many service men who might otherwise have been classified for all time as 'Unknown.'

"I cannot impress upon you too much the great care which we in the Quartermaster Corps have taken to insure the certainty of identification. Both as Quartermaster General and as Chief of the American Graves Registration Service, I give you this pledge: Once we have notified next of kin of the identity of remains, there can be no doubt as to the absolute certainty of that identification. It is positive beyond the shadow of a doubt."

"These, of course, are but the preliminary steps which must be taken as we carry out the wishes of Congress and the people. The countless records which must be kept, the great care and attention which must be given remains — these are elements which we have considered more than the matter of speed in accomplishing this repatriation program. For I feel sincerely, and I believe you will agree with me, that it is far more to be desired that we move cautiously and carefully than to take any chance of error."

"All of the delays cannot be attributed to operational matters, however, quite frankly, we have had to schedule and reschedule our program for the return of remains due to industry's inability to supply caskets because of shortages of steel. We had expected that there would be a supply of caskets on hand by January which would be sent overseas. Last month, however, we were notified that our schedules would have to be set back once again, this time for sixty days. The best estimate I can give you at the present time is that remains will probably not be returned to this country much before the summer of 1947."

"Once the remains arrive at either New York or San Francisco, they will be sent in special railroad cars to one of fifteen distribution points. The Armed Forces will furnish the military escorts to accompany the remains to the place designated by the next of kin."

Balance state funds

The monthly report prepared by State Treasurer Conrad F. Becker indicates that the balance of all funds in the State Treasury decreased $9,974,647.05, during the month of September. For the first time in over a year and a half General Revenue, Regular, and Trust Funds all reflect a decrease. Continued withdrawals from the Unemployment Trust Fund and disbursements for Road work caused these reductions.

Coined Electricity
William Gilbert, 1544-1603, the scientific genius of Elizabeth's glorious reign, coined electricity from electron, Greek word for amber.

THE MAILMAN'S CORNER

by Ldnael Ellis Truxell

There is a question that every person should ask himself with seriousness. It is, "What do I owe other people?" "What do I owe my country, my church, my family?" The answer to this question is as important in the life of an individual, for his own happiness, as the question of what he should eat, or wear for good health and happiness.

For no person can forever escape his obligations and be happy about it. There is a satisfaction in fulfilling an obligation that gives the individual a feeling of worthiness and self respect, and there is genuine reward in the honor and high regard of his friends and neighbors.

We cannot always accept the kindnesses of others without feeling a sense of obligation to them for what they have done. And this feeling of obligation which has not been repaid quite often makes us feel embarrassed and ill at ease in the presence of those who have been kind to us. We are always more pleased at meeting someone whom we have obliged than when we meet someone who had obliged us and whom we have never yet repaid. A feeling of obligation is depressing and dampening to the spirits.

I know of people who, because of some sort of inhibition or some form of selfish and mistaken modesty, actually feel ashamed of repaying an obligation. I also know others whom are proud and vain, who become bitter because they feel obliged to some one who has helped them. Bitter even to the point of actually hating their benefactors.

But no one need ever be ashamed or unhappy if he forms the habit of being more often obliging than obliged. Helping other people lifts one up out of all proportion to the value of what he has done. Little acts of kindness to others will fill your life with a purposeful, joyful sense of really being alive.

And don't let it get you down when some one gives a lift. Just know that if they really wanted to do it, they are getting the best end of the bargain. Don't feel too badly even when they are people whom you rather really wouldn't come to your aid. Accept their challenge, and repay the debt with interest.

YOUR DENTAL I. Q.

(American Dental Association)

I am interested in knowing the chemical composition of human teeth.—H. P.

A: The enamel covering the tooth crown is the hardest tissue in the body. It is highly calcified, containing about 98 per cent of inorganic salts and 2 per cent organic material and water. About 90 per cent of the inorganic salts consists of tricalcium phosphate. The remaining 10 per cent consists of calcium carbonate, magnesium phosphate, calcium fluoride and small amounts of sodium and potassium. The organic components are water, about 1.5 per cent, and keratin about 0.5 per cent. Dentin, which comprises the bulk of the tooth, somewhat resembles bone. It consists of about 70 per cent inorganic salts and about 30 per cent organic material. The main inorganic salts, like those of enamel, consist of tricalcium phosphate and other salts of calcium and magnesium. The organic components of dentin are water and dental matrix, which contains very fine collagenous (jelly-like) material. Dental matrix is identical with bone matrix and, like the latter, yields glue when boiled.

Woodside Inn

I take my ease in this woodside inn.

The days grow short and the sunlight thin;
The inn is quiet with a bed of moss

Where a weary traveler his pack may toss;

The chimney flanks a grey plume of smoke,

A signal for all such wayfaring folk.

Within this wood is no other sound

Then ripe nuts patterning to the ground.

Or the scurry of leaves before the door

And the squirrel gathering winter store.

The evening star peers thru the dusk

And turns each leaf to a golden husk;

There tell Is a blessing left for some lonely soul;

And when to a drowsy rest I sink

A moonbeam steals thru the wall's rough chink.

worry convicts most in prison

The major cause of unhappiness in convicts, 50 per cent of whom believe they have not been "reasonably happy" in prison, is concern for their families, according to a study reported in the current issue of the Journal of Criminal Law and Criminology, published by the Northwestern University Press.

The study was made by Raymond Corsini, institutional psychologist at Auburn (Illinois) prison, who interviewed 50 convicts about to be paroled. The prisoners, who were promised anonymity, were asked 12 questions, including "What were the main causes of your unhappiness?"

The largest group — 23 convicts — said worry over their families. In second place were causes related to confinement, listed by 20 convicts. Third were prison conditions and fourth were feelings of guilt and remorse.

The poll showed that 60 percent of the prisoners felt that they personally had benefited from incarceration, but only 34 per cent believed that their fellow inmates benefited. One prisoner said that confinement was beneficial only "if a man serves less than five years." Sixty-four per cent said that they had been helped to understand themselves by the prison staff or by one or more fellow convicts.

Of 44 who gave replies when asked the cause of their crimes, 30 per cent said need for money, 25 per cent said drink, 11 per cent said foolishness, and 7 per cent said environment. Six men denied committing crimes.

"Most of the men tended to accept the blame for their crimes, rather than to put the blame on outside causes such as environment," Corsini stated.

Asked what annoyed them most while in prison, 18 said nothing bothered them and 34 made complaints such as alleged regimentation, inefficiency, red tape, noise at night, and low morals, inconsiderateness, and sexual degeneration of inmates.

Check Vacuum Cleaner

Concerning vacuum sweepers, be sure yours is working properly or it will mean extra wear and tear on the sweeper to get the rug clean. First, the dirt bag or container should be emptied. The adjustable nozzle should be set so that it makes a good seal with the rug when the sweeper is in use. Also, the rotating beaters or brushes should be free from string and lint and the belt should be tight.

Wins farm award of U. of Illinois

Paul Willrett, of De Kalb County, will receive the W. G. Skelly Award for superior achievement in agriculture Saturday, October 12. Ten Midwestern farm leaders in charge of awards nominated Willrett for this agricultural honor because they claim him typical of scores of others in his county and state. He keeps complete records of each farm operation. Co-operation with the Illinois College of Agriculture in an accounting system enables him to determine his financial standing at a minute's notice.

The model 240-acre farm specializes in cattle, sheep and hogs. Principal crops are corn and small grain. Realizing the basic essential of good farming in soil conservation, Willrett guards the fertility of his farm by means of a rigid lime, phosphate and legume program.

The Willretts, Paul and Ethel, have also raised five fine children. He will receive his award, consisting of a $100 U. S. Savings Bond, scroll and gold lapel button, presented in behalf of W. G. Skelly, president of Skelly Oil Company, at a breakfast in his honor Saturday morning.

Illinois farmers advised to prepare for grain storage

Because of the growing shortage of railway grain cars, President Charles B. Shuman of the Illinois Agricultural Association advised Illinois farmers to prepare for the storage of more grain on the farm than ever before.

Farmers will be faced with the greatest car shortage in history during the coming soybean harvest, Shuman said, and wherever possible should be prepared to store their grain on the farm due to the possibility of blocked elevators.

The shortage of cars has been aggravated by the heavy export demand for grain. During the week ending September 7, the IAA transportation department pointed out that car loadings of all commodities totaled 794,483 cars, an increase of 64,629 cars, or 3.9 per cent above the corresponding week of 1945.

"To throw or deposit any offal or other offensive matter, or the carcass of any dead animal, in any water course, lake, pond, spring, well or common sewer, street or public highway.

"To render impure the water of any spring, river, stream, pond or lake to the injury of others.

"To obstruct or encroach upon public highways, private ways, and ways to burying grounds.

"The law specifies other public nuisances, but the ones listed are most in point as affecting farming areas.

It is well established by the courts in Illinois that rendering works may be adjudged a public nuisance where offending smells are not controlled. With respect to stream pollution, the courts state that while it is true that every owner should enjoy reasonable use of a stream, he has no right to destroy its use to those below him. Such acts as putting a gate across a highway and building or fencing out into the road are clearly nuisances under this law. Other acts which have traditionally been regarded as public nuisances may still be so despite the fact that they may not be enumerated in the law.

Elevators no longer a rarity on farm

By IRA MILLER

Farm Electrification Bureau

Farm boys and girls used to associate elevators with occasional visits to the city where such strictly non-rural conveyances—or so they once considered them—were always a source of wonder and amusement. Times, however, have changed, particularly on electrified farms. Elevators are no longer a rarity, but rather a common sight on thousands of farms and cribbed by one man using an electrically-driven portable elevator in from 6 to 8 minutes. A hopper, attached to the lower end of the elevator, will help the farmer direct a steady and maximum flow of grain from the wagon to the conveyor. One mid-western farmer records having elevated 1,000 bushels of ear corn, with his $\frac{1}{2}$ horsepower portable elevator, faster than a two-row picker could pick it, and a power consumption of under 5 kilowatt hours of electricity—a matter of ten or fifteen cents.

Many larger farms have drive-in granaries where an electrically-operated floor dump conveyor, into which the grain is dropped, transfers it to a vertical, stationary elevator for transportation to bins and side cribs as desired. An electric wagon hoist, which is also used in connection with portable elevators, lifts the front end of the wagon off the ground permitting the grain to flow into the hopper. The size of electric motors used on both types of elevators depends on the amount of grain handled and the elevating speed desired. In general, portable elevator motors range from $\frac{1}{2}$ to 1 horsepower, while stationary elevator motors range from 1 to 5 horsepower, with 2 horsepower considered average for the latter type.

World War II brought farm elevators, both portable and stationary types, into wider use than ever before. Men were not available to crib corn or carry sacked grain into mow storage rooms. Older farmers and school boy helpers were physically unable to take their place, but electrically-operated elevators could, and did. The use of such conveyors has reduced the farmer's crop handling chores to a minimum, saving him time, labor, money and effort.

Tests made at Idaho College of Agriculture indicate that an average wagon load of grain can be emptied Nuisances.

To most people chinch bugs and rats are good examples of nuisances. As a matter of fact, they are—as a matter of law, they might not be so classified.

Legally, a nuisance may be generally defined as anything which unlawfully causes inconvenience, damage, injury to health or offense to the senses. Obviously a multitude of grievances.

"To cause or suffer the carcass of any animal or any offal, filth or noisome substance to be collected, deposited or to remain in any place, to the prejudice of others.

It is well established by the courts in Illinois that rendering works may be adjudged a public nuisance where offending smells are not controlled. With respect to stream pollution, the courts state that while it is true that every owner should enjoy reasonable use of a stream, he has no right to destroy its use to those below him. Now is time to control cattle lice, says Petty

Now is the best time to control those cattle lice that do so much damage during the winter months, says H. B. Petty, entomologist at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture. Kill the parents or grandparents of the lice that do their work in the winter, and you control the damaging lice themselves.

"If you have only a few animals and if they're gentle, you can use DDT dust to control lice," says Petty. "A five percent DDT prepared dust worked into the animals hair will give satisfactory control. The treatment should cover the body fairly well, as lice do not migrate very much after they become established."

If a spray is used, the entomologist recommends using 16 pounds of 50 per cent water-wettable DDT powder to 100 gallons of water.

For dipping, either the oil-emulsifiable DDT or the water-wettable powder should be used at a strength of 0.2 per cent. "That means eight pounds of the 50 per cent wettable powder to 100 gallons of water," Petty points out. The dip should be stirred constantly so that it will not settle.

public nuisance because it does not affect enough people, but it may amount to a private nuisance and gives the individual a legal right to enjoin it or secure damages. Damming a stream and causing it to back up on the lands of another is an example of such a nuisance.

The laws referred to may be found in the Illinois Revised Statutes, Chapter 38, Section 466.

New industries locate upstate

A total of 119 new industries arranged to locate in northern Illinois during the first nine months of 1946, it was disclosed by the territorial information department of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois.

The 119 new industrial concerns, together with 52 more which moved from old locations to new, larger quarters within the area, make a total of 171 new or expanded industries for northern Illinois in the nine-month period. This compares with 118 for the entire year of 1945.

The 171 establishments will employ over 28,000 people with an annual payroll estimated at $57,000,000. The 118 industries which located in northern Illinois during 1945 are employing an estimated 17,000 persons drawing annual wages of about $34,000,000.

Thus, in the 21 months since January 1, 1945, the area has attracted 289 new or "transplanted" industries employing an estimated 45,000 persons with an annual payroll of approximately $91,000,000.

No other section of the nation can boast such phenomenal industrial expansion, according to the department's report.

Of the 171 industries selecting northern Illinois so far this year, 55 are newly organized plants, 55 are branch plants of going concerns, four are industries which moved their operations into the area from other locations, and 52 are plants which moved from old to new and larger quarters within the area.

Kids disagree, parents fight, $85,000 suit

Perhaps the squabbles between the Lawrence family and the Peasley family of Skokie didn't exactly start with the time-worn: "Yeah, my father can lick your father!" but the outcome of a disagreement between the Lawrence and Peasley children has resulted in a suit for $85,000 damages by one warring faction against the other.

Sherman G. Lawrence, 49, of 945 Lincolnwood drive, Skokie, filed the action last week in Superior court against Fred S. Peasley, 45, of 9512 Lincolnwood drive, an engineer, and his wife, Mildred. Lawrence is a paper box salesman.

In his suit, filed by Attorney George L. Turner, Lawrence charged that on the night of Sept. 28, Peasley and Mrs. Peasley came to his home and assaulted him.

"A disagreement between youngsters in the family preceded the fight," said Attorney Turner. "Police were not called."

Lawrence alleged in his complaint that Peasley used "a ring, knuckles, or other metal object designed to cause grave and serious injury." Mrs. Peasley used a club, Lawrence charged.

Against Peasley, Lawrence seeks $10,000 for personal injury; $20,000 punitive damages; and $50,000 for assaulting him while he was wearing glasses.

Lawrence seeks $5,000 from Mrs. Peasley for assaulting him with the club.

U. of Illinois opens campus at Galesburg

The new Galesburg Undergraduate Division of the University of Illinois, offering an opportunity for college training to veterans and other students, both men and women, will definitely open October 15, president George D. Stoddard has announced. Courses in engineering for freshman have been added to the previously announced offerings in commerce and business administration and in liberal arts and sciences for both freshmen and sophomores, he said.

Housing, together with food and other living as well as educational services is available for 2,000 students. Applications are now being received by the university at the Galesburg campus, which is within five minutes of the heart of that community.

It is the former army Mayo hospital, and has 117 brick buildings connected with enclosed corridors. Included are dining rooms, living quarters, laboratories and class rooms, gymnasium, swimming pool, theater, chapel, recreation facilities, and offices.

Urge vets to file claims now for service ills

Veterans in the Illinois region who have not filed claim for disability or illness incurred in the service are urged to do so as soon as possible by Robert D. Beer, Manager of the Veterans Administration Illinois Region. This advice includes those veterans who have become ill since their discharge.

"There are physical disabilities and illness which appear within the year of the veteran's separation from service," Beer pointed out "and which may have had their origin in service. Hence, they may be service-connected."

The warning to file disability claims is particularly timely at this time because of increasing evidence from contact with veterans that the right to file claims is not understood. This means that veterans may be losing compensation as well as medical care for which they may be eligible.

"Claims should be filed as soon as possible after separation," Beer stressed. "The longer the filing delayed, the greater the burden of proving service-connection."

Veterans are entitled to medical care by the VA for an injury or illness having its inception or having been aggravated in the service. Such conditions are best established as being service-connected by records of treatment or hospitalization during service. Evidence may be substantiated by medical care administered by civilian doctors after the veteran has been discharged.

Affidavits of employers and others are also helpful. If no records of illness or injury are available, then affidavits of companions in the service are helpful proof in establishing service-connection.

Questions on GI bill

This is another in a series of questions and answers regarding the rights of returning servicemen and their families, as answered by the USES office at 5306 W. Lawrence avenue. Further information may be obtained by contacting this office.

Question: Under the provisions of the proposed Illinois Veterans Bonus Act for World War II Veterans, will the survivor of a person who died while in the service receive any benefits?

Answer: Yes. The law provides that if death was service-connected, the survivor will be paid the sum of $900 regardless of the length of service.

Question: How will the money be provided for the payment of the proposed Illinois Veterans Bonus?

Answer: From the sale of bonds of the State of Illinois. The bonds to be paid off from a tax on horse racing, the sale of cigarettes and a direct annual tax upon real and personal property.

Blocked punt gives Vikings 7-6 victory over Bensenville

Locals fail to make use of 'breaks'

Northbrook's Vikings upset favored Bensenville in their home opener Saturday 7-6. The winning touchdown came in the early part of the second quarter when Northbrook blocked a Bensenville punt and a substitute end, Brown, fell on the ball in the end zone for a touchdown. Happ place kicked the winning point. J. Vuglar's 60 yard touchdown run in the third period on an intercepted pass gave the Vikings six points but the try for the conversion was blocked by Happ.

MAC SAYS:

BY GERALD A. MCELROY

Last year we picked Bensenville to win the Northwest Conference football title. They started out by losing to Northbrook. This year we did the same predicting and they again suffered an upset at Northbrook this time 7-6. We still think the Bisons will win the championship and that they will play better ball than they did last week. They met a Northbrook team which they expected to be a push-over. The Vikings are far from that with a well balanced ball club that is especially strong at the tackles. Northbrook and Bensenville have lines that are way ahead of anything else in the league. Coach Bill Lutz of Northbrook had quite a job story at the recent coaches meeting about his weak outfit but they looked first division all right Saturday. We liked the looks of Happ at tackle for Northbrook but Pittman of Bensenville at tackle was our pick as the best boy on the field.

Grant has three star performers

There is no question but what Grant has two of the league's best backs in Haiman and Sudden and a top guard in Seymour. None of the three weighs over 150 pounds but they can play plenty of football. That 87 yard run of Haiman's Saturday night against Palatine left nothing to be desired.

Pirates morale & playing up upgrade

Stock in the Palatine team rose a good 50% after Saturday's game at Grant for the Pirates played very good ball and their spirit was better at the finish than at the start. They made eight first downs, the same as Grant, and came to a realization that they can play good ball. We predict that win or lose they are going to be tough the rest of the season. Harold Stephan, a fast shifty back, who has been out with injuries will return to action this week to bolster further the morale and man power of the Pirates.

Kocher an all conference prospect

Palatine coaches who saw Antioch and Barrington tie last Friday night came away with a lot of respect for Kocher, Barrington tackle, whom they rate all conference if the opening game is an indication. The big fast Broncho lineman was at tackle on offense and end on defense and smeared everything that came his way. They could not understand why Antioch, who scored the tying touchdown in the closing minutes, would try to get the Bensenville had four punts blocked by the aggressive Northbrook tackles, Happ and Schidgen and Cappelin, a rangy end. The Bison's running attack consistently bogged down when they got in scoring position and their passing was way off form with but three completions in 20 attempts.

The Bisons had the edge in the first quarter but soon lost it on bad passes from center and poor protection for the ball carrier. Northbrook took the ball on the Bison 33 on a blocked punt and Borg intercepted a pass on the 26 to stop the threat. Then when he attempted to pass the center tossed the ball over his head and Northbrook got it on the 20 yard line.

This time the Vikings were stopped when Bensenville recovered a fumble on the 13. At this point their punt was blocked for a touchdown.

Midway in the third period Northbrook got the Bisons in the hole by punting out of bounds on the two yard line. This time Borg got the kick away to the 33. A minute later Vuglar intercepted a pass for his 60 yard touchdown jaunt.

Bisons lose many scoring opportunities

The Bisons had every opportunity a team could ask for to get the winning points. Pittman blocked a Viking punt and recovered on their 19 yard line. The ball was carried to the 10 and lost. R. Vuglar, center, recovered a Northbrook fumble on the 7 yard line, however, but the Bisons gained three yards through the line and tossed a couple of wild passes to again give up the ball.

A little later the Bisons had another chance when Giannini recovered a fumble on the Northbrook 36 and 20 yards in penalties set the ball on the Northbrook 16 but the threat ended when Northbrook intercepted a pass. Another time Bensenville got to the Northbrook 22 but three incompletely passes and a running loss of six yards stopped them again. Northbrook finally got out of their own end of the field on a couple of 15 yard runs just before the game ended.

The teams appeared to have the best lines in the league with their best men at the defensive tackles where Happ and Schidgen played for Northbrook and Pittman and J. Vuglar for the Bisons. Leading ground gainer was Giannini of Bensenville who made 62 yards in 15 tries.

Palatine vs. Northbrook in homecoming Sat.

Palatine homecoming Saturday

In the Northwest the second week of the campaign finds Northbrook playing at Palatine's homecoming where they rate an edge but not as great a one as we would have accorded them a week ago in spite of their upset of Bensenville Saturday. Last year Grant lost their only day game and this Saturday they have to play at Barrington away from their accustomed surroundings. Grant even does all their practicing at night. Even with this disadvantage we cannot see how Grant can lose this year to the Bronchos but one never can tell. Antioch plays at Bensenville also on Saturday afternoon and we predict a rough afternoon for the Indians. The Bisons are due to rebound from last week's defeat and Antioch may meet the Bensenville club at its best.

In anticipation of a big crowd, bleachers have been secured from Crystal Lake and Wauconda so that a total of 900 people may be seated at the game. The Wauconda bleachers have been rented for both the Northbrook and Barrington games. The set of Crystal Lake bleachers have been borrowed in a plan whereby Crystal Lake used Palatine bleachers at their recent homecoming game with Arlington Heights. Every spectator at Saturday's game should have a seat.

The high school band will play and march between halves as well as lead the homecoming parade which will be held at 1:00 p.m. before the game which is slated for 2:30. A bonfire, pep meeting, and snake dance is scheduled for Friday night and a homecoming dance to be held Saturday night at which the high school students may bring dates from other schools. The graduates of the past three years are also invited to attend.

The Eagles scored a touchdown in each of the first two quarters on nice runs by Louis Stein and their one conversion proved the margin of victory. Woodstock scored in the first and fourth periods but failed to convert on either occasion.

Harry Selig was Leyden's best backfield performer while Cotsakis, Rende, and Spera played best in the line. Colahan and Lappin were outstanding for Woodstock.

Veteran returns

Among the veteran backs performing in Marquette university football togs this fall is Bob O'Hagan, Arlington Heights, who returned to the Milwaukee Hilltop recently after serving with the army air corps in the CBI theater. O'Hagan, who lettered at Marquette in 1941 and 1942, is 5 feet, 10 1/2 inches tall and scales in at 183 pounds.

'Quarterback' football weekly, now on stands

Giving predictions on this week end's games, as well as features and statistical reviews, a new football weekly. The Quarterback, made its first appearance on the news stands today.

Signals for the new weekly are being called by The Sporting News, 60-year-old sports publication, whose publisher, J. G. Taylor Spink, said The Quarterback would give "accurate, lively and complete football coverage."

In addition to predictions and statistics, the first issue contains a story on "That Man Marshall," George Preston Marshall, by Al Costello of the Washington Post, who says the owner of the Washington Redskins is "as unpredictable as a dollar watch" and goes on to show how he ticks with ideas; favorite plays described by coaches Tuss McLaughry of Dartmouth, Dutch Meyer of Texas Christian and Athletic Director Frank Leahy of Notre Dame; an "inside" story of how the battle between the Bronchos and the Panthers began; and many other stories.

The Bisons had a punt partially blocked but Lake Forest recovered on Warren's 40-yard line. With Metzger and Charlie Scharrer powering the attack, the Scouts moved out in front when Metzger plunged across the pay-off stripe again, giving Coach Edgar Lindenmeyer's prep a 13-6 halftime advantage.

The Scouts took the field in the third period and launched an uninterrupted march, climaxed by Scharrer's four-yard dash through tackle for Lake Forest's third touchdown.

Warren made a quick touchdown shortly after the kickoff. Bob Depke intercepted a pass tossed by Lennie Anderson of Lake Forest in that opening quarter and raced 80 yards to tally for the Blue Devils.

The Scouts came back fighting mad to march half of the length of the field with Metzger finally plunging over from the three-yard stripe.

Midway in the second period the Scouts had a punt partially blocked but Lake Forest recovered on Warren's 40-yard line. With Metzger and Charlie Scharrer powering the attack, the Scouts moved out in front when Metzger plunged across the pay-off stripe again, giving Coach Edgar Lindenmeyer's prep a 13-6 halftime advantage.

The Scouts took the field in the third period and launched an uninterrupted march, climaxed by Scharrer's four-yard dash through tackle for Lake Forest's third touchdown.

Warren gets safety

After having been forced back to their own 18-yard line in the closing minutes of the third period on a long kick by Warren's DeLoof, the Scouts were held to little gain and had to kick. The punt was blocked and bounced into and out of the end zone, giving Warren a safety and two points.

On the next kickoff, Warren fumbled after one running play and Lake Forest recovered. The Scouts made good in this break and scored again when Bobby Burns took a pass from Quarterback Ray Sayoc for another touchdown.

Still in the ball game, Warren fought back in the last quarter, recovered a Lake Forest fumble, and scored behind the driving power plays of Fullback Johnny Wedge. Statistics showed Warren collected six first downs and Lake Forest 14.

Bisons host to Antioch this Saturday

Bensenville, with the heart-breaking Northbrook defeat still ringing in their ears, plays host to Antioch Saturday afternoon in the home field. Coach Meneaguin's boys are determined to get into the win column this week and justify the experts, who favor them for the league title.

The Bisons, except for a 60 yard touchdown run by Borg, failed to take advantage of several scoring opportunities Saturday against Northbrook, losing 7-6. The locals lost the ball on the visitors' ten, four and 16 yard lines on successive occasions. Thus, the Bensenville squad placed emphasis on passing, pass receiving, and hanging onto the ball this week in preparation for the game against the Sequoits.

Antioch tied Barrington last week, 6-6, and will be driving for a win over the Bisons. Game time is 2:30.

Haiman gained 117 yards and Sugen 81 for Grant. Weinacht placed off 88 for Palatine and Pepper got 40.

Grant had 259 yards gained from scrimmage to the Pirates' 154.

It was a good game to watch with a good running attack functioning for both teams.

Grant's homecoming brought out a gate of over $600 to watch their favorites open defense of their last year's league title under the lights.

Grant's halfbacks, Haiman and Sugen, were outstanding, but the Palatine line charged hard and the backs tackled consistently well to stop most of Grant's running attack when it counted.

Weinacht showed greatly improved line plugging and ability to run the ends as he picked up 88 yards for the Pirates who made just as many first downs as their opponents.

Pepper again played a consistently fine game at quarterback for Palatine. The whole Pirate team, though beaten, seemed to have found themselves after the half and played good enough to be in the running with anyone in the league.

Make 99 yard drive

Grant's third score came on a 99 yard march following Palatine's best scoring attempt.

The Pirates had taken the ball on their own 30 to start the second half and chalked up three first downs as they drove to Grant's six yard stripe.

From this point four plays left them a yard short of the goal line. Grant started a running attack from their end zone featured by a 25 yard run by Haiman and a 22 yard sprint by Sugen which took the ball deep in Palatine territory.

Carl Stoll

Funeral services for Christian Stolzenberger, will be held from the chapel of the Lutheran Old Folks Home, Arlington Heights at 2 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 10, Rev. J. M. Kempf officiating. Interment, Evangelical Lutheran Old Folks Home cemetery.

He was a former resident of Schaumburg and became a resident of the Lutheran Home June 5, 1918.

Mr. Stolzenberger was born in Baden, Germany, April 8, 1888, and died at the Home October 8, at the age of 88 years, 5 months and 29 days.

IN MEMORIAM

We are all shocked into a recognition of the dangers our volunteer firemen face in the performance of their duties, by the recent tragedy which took the lives of two of our loved citizens.

The members of Palatine Post No. 690, the American Legion well know the dangers confronting those who volunteer to protect the life and property of others. These unsung heroes stand ready at all times to respond to the call of duty and we of the Legion are fully cognizant of their unselfish devotion to service.

A group of men interested in the further development of agriculture have organized the National Farm Show to meet a long felt need for a display of farm implements and all the modern conveniences of farming, during the International Livestock Show," said Mr. Hinson. "We will show the latest developments in farm machinery and equipment, and there will also be special demonstrations and

To honor navy head

A heavy frost last Tuesday posed a problem in conducting the memorials at Lake Front on Navy day, as it knocked out the garden flowers which were to be strewn over Lake Michigan in honor of all persons who lost their lives at sea during World War II. Greenhouse flowers will be furnished for the ceremony by the Allied Florists' Association. Anyone who wishes to have a single flower sent to the memorials on Navy day, October 27, needs only to call his retail florist and give the name of the honored dead. The names of the honored persons will be attached to roses, carnations or pompon mums by the florists, who will collect all the flowers and deliver them to the Senior Naval Chaplain at the Naval armory. Services will be conducted by the Navy League of the United States.

Record tax collection

County Treasurer Victor L. Schlaeger reports that he has set all time high record for collection of taxes, real estate, personal property and railroads. The treasurer says the collection of 1945 taxes as of Sept. 30, was $218,135,570. The previous record was set by Schlaeger two years ago and was $215,000,000.

The total extension of levy for 1945 was $242,790,021. The 1945 collection leaves only 7% of uncollected taxes, a record never before accomplished in Cook County.

This fine record has brought praise to Schlaeger from Civic leaders, judges, lawyers and businessmen. In the four years that he has been treasurer no collection has been under 10% of uncollected taxes.

Schlaeger also reports that collection of delinquent or back taxes set a record. Through his forfeiture foreclosure department he has collected over $7,000,000. Through the receivership department he has collected more than $1,550,000 and through the levy department he has collected more than $1,000,000 in personal property back taxes.

Similar to onions

Leeks are very similar to non-bulbing onions, except that the leaves are flat instead of round and hollow. They are used in soups, stews and in any other way that green onions are used. They are generally grown from seeds, the same way as onions.

Your weekly treat recipe

Here's a recipe that will help you over some of the rough spots. When you want an unusual and delicious main dish, make an Egg Pie. It is a healthful protein dish, and a new way to serve eggs.

Egg Pie.

Potato chips.

9 hard cooked eggs.

2 cups medium white sauce.

3 tablespoons prepared mustard.

1/2 teaspoon salt, white pepper.

Grated cheese.

Method: Place potato chips in a buttered ramekin, sufficient for a thick crust. Place on top three halves, cut lengthwise, hard cooked eggs, add mustard to white sauce, and pour evenly over six ramekins. Top with grated cheese and place in oven 375 degrees for 15 minutes.

Cooking Wild Meat

Wild meat that is young and tender may be broiled, fried or roasted; older meat is braised or fricasseeed (smothered). If the hunter brings in game of different ages to be cooked together, the cook will be wise to use long, slow, moist cooking which makes tougher meat tender. Allowing older meat to age for several days and then parboiling before cooking also helps.
